

PHD Bursaries
Evidence and Organisations in Development
Edinburgh University
October 6 and 7, 2016

Call for applications**

Funded by the ESRC, the final event in the Spaces of Evidence seminar series will take place in Edinburgh on October 6 and 7, 2016. Organized by Ian Harper, James Smith and Michelle Taylor, the Edinburgh conference features talks from leading development and global health experts, representing a wide range of development organizations and academic institutions. Details about the event and confirmed speakers are available at www.spacesofevidence.net.

We are offering 4 travel + accommodation bursaries for PhD students who wish to attend the workshop, each valued at £250.00. The bursaries are offered on a competitive basis. To be considered, please send a one-page, double-spaced application, briefly detailing the focus of your PhD, and a sentence or two about why the conference might help further your research.

Please send the application by email to Dr. Linsey McGoey, Principal Investigator of the ESRC seminar series, and Ms. Daniela Boraschi, PhD Candidate and Programme Coordinator of the Spaces of Evidence network. The deadline for bursary applications is August 20, 2016. lmcgoey@essex.ac.uk; evidence@essex.ac.uk